

Antitrust

Antitrust proceedings involving fines, compensation for damage caused by cartels, merger controls, compliance with antitrust law. Redeker Sellner Dahs has been advising national and international clients in all antitrust situations and transactions for many years.

More at www.redeker.de

Defence & enforcement

For companies, it is crucial to know the limits that antitrust law sets to their activities. Misconceptions can entail severe consequences – fines, claims for damages, public procurement sanctions or failed merger projects. It is equally important for suppliers, customers, or competitors to identify violations of antitrust law at an early stage in order to prevent them or to enforce claims to obtain compensation for damage suffered. To provide optimal advice on antitrust law our lawyers integrate both elements in their services: defence and enforcement.

Practice areas (selection)

- antitrust proceedings for the imposition of fines
- antitrust damages
- merger control
- horizontal and vertical cooperation projects
- competition for distribution
- abusive behaviour
- sector-specific antitrust law
- compliance

Antitrust law advice

We cover the full spectrum of German and European antitrust law – from advisory services to litigation. With offices in Brussels, Berlin and Bonn, we are present at the important political hubs to represent the interest of companies, associations and private individuals. Our experts have excellent knowledge of the various sectors and markets and maintain good contacts with the antitrust authorities. This enables us to provide the best possible support in terms of antitrust law.

More about
Antitrust