

Martin Lenz, LL.M. (Edinburgh)

Associate

Career

Born 1990 in Gelnhausen. Studied law in Leipzig, first state examination in 2015, second state examination in 2018. 2015-2016 LL.M. course at the University of Edinburgh. Legal clerkship at the Higher Regional Court of Dresden with stations at the offices of a commercial law firm in Leipzig and Brussels, among others.

2020 Entry into the law firm.

Martin Lenz, LL.M. (Edinburgh)

Bonn

T +49 228 72625-267

F +49 228 72625-99

lenz@redeker.de

Assistance:

Kathrin Kretschmann dos Santos

Practice

Public procurement law, public commercial law, environmental law

Advising and representing both Contracting authorities as well as bidders in review proceedings under public procurement law, including an extensive review procedure for an IT-company and several review proceedings for an engineering company on the bidder's side; advising contracting authorities on the In public procurement procedures, e. g. in the fields of health, IT, waste management, Including advising a major city in NRW on the award of rescue services, repeated advice to a Of rescue services, repeated advice to a municipal company on various on various contracts for supply services and advice on public procurement law for a of a federal ministry on the digitalization of public administration; advising clients on the design of Structures under public procurement law, including advising a district in North In NRW on the establishment of a central procurement office and advising a major a major city in NRW regarding the in-house capability of a municipal company Company. Consultation and representation of public authorities and public enterprises as well as private economic operators Economic operators on general environmental law and in particular on in the areas of water, wastewater and solid waste Waste.

Languages

German, English