

Dr Sophie Beaucamp, LL.M. (LSE)

associate

Career

Studied law at Humboldt University in Berlin, first state examination in 2013, second state examination in 2016. 2013 to 2014 Master of Laws (LL.M.) with focus on Intellectual Property Law at the London School of Economics. Legal traineeship at the Berlin Court of Appeals with stations at a business law firm, the Senate Department for Cultural Affairs, and the Holocaust Claims Processing Office New York, among others. 2017 to 2018 Attorney at Law at Redeker Sellner Dahs. 2018 to 2021 research associate at the Weizenbaum Institute for the Networked Society, 2021 doctorate with Prof. Dr. Axel Metzger on a topic at the interface of copyright law and IT law

2022 rejoined the law firm

Practice

IT law, commercial Legal Protection and Copyright Law, General Civil and Trade Law, International Civil Procedure

Advising and representing Government agencies, research institutions and companies in the preparation and Negotiation of software and other license agreements.

Publications

Publications on copyright and information technology law.

Languages

German, English, French

Dr Sophie Beaucamp, LL.M. (LSE)
Berlin
T +49 30 885665-289
F +49 30 885665-99
beaucamp@redeker.de Assistance:
Sabrina Wildemann